District Convention Attendees Report to Club

Guests:

One guest today, Mrs. Rebecca O'Leary, lovely wife of Dr. Kevin, who is expecting in 8 short weeks. NOTE: since Becky didn't actually eat she may not have technically been a guest. Dale Henning offered to pay for her lunch even.

Notable returnee:

Jim McMullen, back from another broken leg. Without going in to too much detail, this breakage occurred on exercise equipment. Apparently you shouldn't use exercise equipment in place of a ladder.

Happy Dollars:

Andy Frelich had a sad dollar, because he had to destroy his beloved truck due to "some stupid Republican rule" in the Cash for Clunkers deal.

Kevin O' Leary was happy to tout the St. William's festival this weekend, which includes a $10,000 raffle.

Ed Pulliam was happy Andy had to kill his truck, and everyone who has seen that truck should be happy too.

50/50 raffle:

Nancy V. keeps it going, by drawing the queen of spades.

Announcements:

President-elect Jaime Roth announced the Joint Service Club meeting will be held Tuesday December 8th at the Armory, 12:00 pm.

Our annual Induction Ceremony will be held Wednesday October 7, location TBA.

Program:

Today we heard from our own members Dr. Kevin O'Leary, Andy Frelich, and Ed Pulliam, all who attended the District

Our Speaker, or an ad for cosmetic dentistry?

Convention on August 21. Kevin talked a lot about the keynote speaker he watched, who touched on the subject of "social capitalism". Kevin inquired into what he meant by that, and he was talking about building networks that build our communities. He highly recommended a book: "Bowling Alone" by Robert Putnam. This book illustrates the importance of social connections, both for the health of the community and for personal health. It was a very convincing speech by Dr. Kevin, capped off by a very well told story using multiple voices, characters, and a candle. Sorry you missed it.

Andy talked about his main job up there, selling raffle tickets for the district foundation, which he did a great job on.

Ed also talked about winning 50 lb. of potatoes, and about promoting our SOS website, which is getting more and more hits from around the country, and, internationally.

Thanks to Dr. Jim Damrow for taking the notes. Members having information for future newsletters can email editor@janessvillekiwanis.org.
